5 INSTITUTIONS TO BENEFIT THROUGH THE LEINAUER WILL

Late Bensalem Township Man Remembers Two Phila. Hospitals

THE GALT ESTATE

Numerous Heirs To Share The Estate of Abbie S. Oppie, of New Hope

DOYLESTOWN, July 17.—Two hospitals, an asylum and three other institutions will benefit through the will of Martin Leinauer, late of Bensalem Township. Mr. Leinauer left a personal estate of $45,000, and real estate valued at $30,000.

The two hospitals are the Episcopal and Frankford, each of which received $100; the Home of the Merciful Saviour for Crippled Children in Philadelphia, $100; St. Vincent's Orphan Asylum, Tacony, also $100, and two churches, St. Dominic's Church, Holmesburg, and St. Katherine's Church, Torresdale.

Rev. Andreas Biemiller, Tacony, was bequeathed $100, and the testator, who died June 10, directed that each grandchild receive a bequest of $500, the granddaughters when they reach 25 years of age and the grandsons at 30.

William Leinauer and Marie Theresa Uhlman were bequeathed the residue. The will was executed April 20, 1934.

The husband, Harry P. Spaeter, and daughter, Jane, were named the heirs in the will of Mabel J. Spaeter, Warwick township, who left a 22-acre estate on Meeting House Road in Warwick township. Jane S. Porter, Hartsville, was named the executrix.

A daughter, Sara Day Trumbower, 175 Green street, Sellersville, who was also named the executrix, will inherit the $100 personal and $2300 real estate holdings of her mother, Mary Day Trumbower, Sellersville.

The $4000 personal estate of John Galt, Newtown, will be inherited by a sister, Elizabeth Galt, who was bequeathed $3000, and the widow, Mabel Saylor Galt, who will inherit the residue. Mabel Saylor Galt lives at 20 East Washington avenue, Newtown, and was named the executrix.

Numerous heirs will share the $4500 personal and $1500 real estate holdings of Abbie S. Oppie, of New Hope. William S. Tomlinson, 31 North Chancellor street, Newtown, was named the executor.

Two nephews, William S. Tomlinson and Harry V. Tomlinson, were each given $1000 apiece. Two sisters, Annie Sands and Minnie Howell, each received $500.

The Solebury Baptist Cemetery Association was given $100. Other beneficiaries include a sister-in-law, Addie Werts, $100; a niece, Abbie Adams, $100, and Abbie Banks and Abbie Culver, each $100. The two nephews were bequeathed the residue. The will was executed September 13, 1932, and the testatrix died June 8th.

With the exception of a bequest of $200 to the Pleasantville Reformed Church Cemetery Association for the care of the Samuel Freed plot, the $13,000 personal and $2500 real estate holdings of Sallie M. Groff, Chalfont, will be inherited by a daughter, Mabel I. Wilgus, Chalfont, R. D. 1. The will was executed July 7, 1930, and the testatrix died June 13th.

CAUTIONS AGAINST WAR IMPATIENCE

Senator Lodge Says Ships and More Ships Are Needed

MUST CONQUER "SUBS"

(Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr., (R) Mass., in the following article for International News Service—the second in a series of three—cautions the American people against impatience for victory in the war. He says ships and more ships are needed before the grand offensive should get under way, and that the submarine menace must be conquered.)

By Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr., U. S. Senator from Massachusetts; A Major in the Army Reserves, and a Member of the Senate Military Affairs Committee

Written Exclusively for International News Service

WASHINGTON, July 17.—(INS)—Our Army and Navy High Command are thoroughly familiar with the road to victory that lies ahead. They know what needs to be done and how it should be done to wipe Hitler and his gang of world aggressors off the map.

While I have spent 17 years in military training, and recently participated in the war in Egypt and Libya as a major of our armored forces, I do not profess to be a master strategist on war. But I have seen the war first hand and I have had many conferences with our highest Army and Navy officers.

They are fully informed down to minute details of what is going on at the various battlefronts, and they are taking the necessary steps to assure victory ultimately.

The United Nations have been losing battles in this world-girdling war. Like a big gun they have recoiled, and the might of America's force will spring the gun with a series of devastating blows.

All of this takes time—precious time to prepare. One of the first things to be done is to deal successfully with the submarine menace. Until we do that we cannot get maximum striking power outside our own borders.

Our people should guard against impatience against the day when the United States and Britain strike on land against the Nazis. Whenever there

There is no greater opportunity for the folks of Bristol to help than just this.

Perhaps you, Mr. Eastburn, would like to know some of the things we have been able to do through the USO. You know the slogan is this: "You help someone you know, when you give to the USO."

At our Information Desk, we supply the Service Boys and men of the Merchant Marine, (those brave men who take the ships through the dangers of the enemy infested seas), with free cigarettes, passes for the big league ball games, the Dell concerts, Bucks County Playhouse performances at the Bellevue, Woodside Park amusements, etc. Also, a young man will ask "Where can I take my mother to room for the week that she is going to spend with me?" Another young man came to the desk the other day and asked me "Mrs. Miller, how can I have my furlough extended, as my mother just died today and I want to stay over five days longer?" Another "Mrs. Miller, where can I get a check cashed?"

As you leave our Hostess Desk, you see before you a large room fitted with comfortable davenport, chairs, desks, supplied with stationery, bookcases all around and games of all sorts, ping pong tables and then to the rear of the room a large "snack-bar" where our boys can appease their appetites with home-made cakes, cookies, jellies, peanut butter, cheese, olives, potato chips, pretzel sticks, candy and at each end of the bar large pitchers of iced fruit juices. We are proud of this snack bar as our boys can take as much and as often as they need it for it is all free. They never abuse the privilege and are very grateful. We have received many lovely letters of thanks from the parents and wives of the boys.

We also sponsor dances for the boys and even sponsored a wedding one evening. We undertook all arrangements even to securing the minister. This work that we are able to do for our Service Men is not a duplication, but I feel it is work that covers an individual need of the boy. We try to have women that are interested in the welfare of each one and at our dances every girl must be of unquestionable character and each dance is chaperoned by at least three women.

Mr. Eastburn, I have always been proud of the efforts and accomplishments of my town in all Red Cross drives and community welfare work and I know that the people of Bristol will get behind this plea for clean entertainment and healthful environment through the United Service Organization.

Wishing you success and well deserved happiness in your USO drive,
Sincerely,
REBA E. MILLER,
Member of Staff of Civilian Defense and USO Hospitality Center

SHOW CONTRIBUTIONS OF MAJOR FOOD GROUPS

Through Mill St. Display, The Value of Fruits and Vegetables is Shown

VICTORY GARDENS AID

Through efforts of the Food Conservation Committee, Volunteer Office of Civilian Defense, Women's Unit of Bucks County Council of Defense, a timely display has been placed in the show window at 316 Mill street. Mrs. Thomas Ross, Doylestown, is chairman of the committee.

The display of cards and foods shows the contributions to the diet made by the 12 major classes of foods. The display sets forth the conspicuous manner in which fruits and vegetables contribute to the day's food needs.

It is asked that co-operation be made with the Victory Garden Committee for increasing civilian consumption of fruits and vegetables as a wartime measure.

By means of the cards and foods shown the major classes such as proteins, carbohydrates, fats, those rich in calcium, iron, phosphorus, and various vitamins are grouped.

The surplus foods being preserved by the Conservation Committee will be used under direction of the Defense Council and the Red Cross Disaster Committee chairman of Bucks County for emergency needs, or later for hospitals and destitute families of the county.

The Ellen H. Richards Institute at Pennsylvania State College, and the Woods Progress Administration combined to produce the series of charts and models illustrating the chief nutritional contributions of the major items of food.

President Judge Hiram Keller, of Doylestown, handed down a Bucks Co. Orphans Court ruling upholding the testament which gives Mrs. Rose Beer Cressman, his second wife, his entire estate, estimated in the neighborhood of $160,000. Cressman died about four months after his second marriage.

The son, Charles Harold Cressman, and daughter, Mrs. Marian L. Hollenback, wife of the Philadelphia councilman, seek to have the will set aside so that they may share the estate—everyone getting one third.

Walter J. Steinhilber Found Dead By His Sister

DEAD SEVERAL HOURS

Deceased Had Planned To Use Truck Body for Sand Storage Purposes

Attempting to lower the body of a truck to the floor of a wagon shed, so that sand for air raid protection could be stored, Walter J. Steinhilber was accidentally killed at Flushing. Steinhilber's body was found yesterday morning beneath the truck body.

Steinhilber, who was 48 years of age, was single, and made his home with his sister, Mrs. Raymond Lewis, Steinhilber Road, Flushing.

It is believed that Steinhilber had been dead for several hours when the body was found by his sister, Mrs. Lewis.

Steinhilber went to the wagon shed Wednesday night at about 8.30 and that was the last seen of him until his body was discovered at about seven o'clock yesterday morning.

Yesterday morning Mrs. Lewis, who was under the impression that her brother was in bed, called him to breakfast, but failing to receive any response went to his room. Finding that the bed had not been disturbed, Mrs. Lewis started to make a thorough search of the house and barns. Opening the door of the wagon shed, Mrs. Lewis was startled to see the body of the truck turned over and her brother's limb protruding from beneath it. His head was considerably crushed.

The body of the truck had been dismounted from the chassis and was standing up on its side along the wall of the wagon shed. Steinhilber had planned to lay the body flat on the floor of the shed for the purpose of storing sand, which he planned to use as air raid protection. It is presumed that the truck body in being lowered slipped and fell on Steinhilber, crushing him to the floor.

Mrs. Lewis ran screaming to the house of a neighbor who in turn summoned a local deputy coroner Dr. Charles P. Sampel. Bristol, was summoned, and issued a certificate of accidental death.

Steinhilber was born at Flushing and was the son of the late John J. and Pauline Steinhilber. He was a World War I veteran, having seen nearly a year of service overseas with the 7th Division Motor Supply Train in 1918.

The survivors are two sisters, Mrs. Lewis, and Mrs. Newton Ganther, Philadelphia; one brother, John, Flushing.

The deceased was a member of Washington Camp No. 789, Patriotic Order Sons of America; and Martha Washington Chapter, Knights of Mystic Chain.

Relatives and friends and members of the organizations with which the deceased was affiliated are invited to attend the funeral tomorrow afternoon at two o'clock from the Molder funeral chapel, 133 Otter street, Bristol. The Rev. James R. Galley will officiate. Burial will be in the Bristol Cemetery. Friends may call this evening.

WEST BRISTOL

WHAT OUR BOYS ARE DOING TO WIN THE WAR

Corporal Samuel L. Schiffer, son of Mrs. Rebecca Schiffer, of 250 Mill street, Bristol, Pa., has been admitted as an officer candidate to the Air Forces Officer Candidate School at Miami Beach, Florida. After successfully completing a twelve week intensive course of instruction, Officer Candidate Schiffer will be commissioned a 2nd Lieutenant in the Army of the United States. (Air Forces.) At this school, the first of its kind, the officer candidate studies more than 35 specialized courses in administrative, personnel and supply duties. Upon graduation, officers will be assigned to duty in one of these departments in the Air Forces, thus relieving trained pilots from such duties and allowing them to devote their full time to flying. The immediate availability of housing and training facilities, plus excellent climatic conditions, prompted Army officials to select Miami Beach as the ideal location for the school.

THE GREAT GAME OF POLITICS

By FRANK R. KENT
(Distributed by McNaught Syndicate, Inc.)

White House Politics

Washington, July 16. THE notion that this war involves such extreme national peril and requires so high a degree of national unity that politics and partisanship should not be tolerated appears to have sagged pretty badly. Beyond dispute, this is one of the most disturbing things about the present situation—a basic reason for the mess which is being made of so many of our war activities in Washington.

THE "POLITICS" should be adjourned—idea was promulgated by the White House and it has been scuttled by the White House. Obviously, such a policy could only be made effective through Presidential leadership. No one else can sound the keynote and no one else can set the example. Only if the President leads can the lesser politicians be expected to follow. Mr. Roosevelt made the appeal, but unfortunately he has not set the example.

ON THE CONTRARY, he is proceeding in exactly the opposite direction to the one to which he pointed. Within the last few weeks the White House has been the scene of a dozen and more purely political conferences and the President, operating through Mr. Eddie Flynn and others, is actively engaged in a wrestling match with politicians of his own State. The New York Times states that the contest "has developed into a fight between President Roosevelt and State Chairman Farley for control of the organization." Mr. Mark Sullivan reports that the President is greatly enjoying the contest. Mr. James L. Wright, of the Buffalo News, says "It is clear the New York situation is engrossing Mr. Roosevelt's attention" and asks "How many man hours has the President spent dabbling in politics while leading the country in the greatest war in history?" Other

FATS AND METAL

Until this war is ended, the American people will be engaged in one collection drive after another.
That is unavoidable if factories are to have sufficient raw materials to produce the implements of war. No sooner has the scrap rubber campaign ended than a drive for fats and scrap metal begins.

Although final figures on the rubber collection are hard to obtain, it is believed that they will show about 400,000 tons added to the scrap supply. Perhaps an additional 200, 000 tons are held by junk dealers awaiting government orders. But that total would not yield more than 400,000 tons of reclaimed rubber, and every bit of it is earmarked for military uses.

Disregarding this addition to the national stockpile, there will be a shortage of 500,000 tons of crude and synthetic rubber by the end of next year. Unless the war is won by that time, the United Nations will face a rubber famine and be dependent on a synthetic production slow to develop and upon an ever-diminishing supply of scrap.

While not overlooking anything that may turn up about the home or farm, people are asked to give particular attention during the coming weeks to salvaging fats and metals.
Meat markets of the nation are acting as collection centers for fats just as the filling stations did for rubber. Housewives will be paid four cents a pound for all the grease and fat they provide.

Importance of the scrap metal drive is obvious. If the nation's blast furnaces are to be kept operating at capacity during the winter, they must have this scrap material. It is estimated that on the farms alone there is enough old iron and steel to build twice as many battleships as there are in the world.

But rubber remains the nation's
No. 1 raw material problem.

CLICKO NAZI CLOCKS

Everyone who harbors any appreciation of civilization is aware of the fact that the Nazis have striven to set the clock back by ten centuries, at the least. But few people have suspected that this attempt on their part would boomerang as terribly as it has.

It turns out that the mad Nazis have concentrated on "cannon-fogging" to such an extent that clock and watch repairing in the Reich has been lagging tremendously, with the result that many families in Germany no longer know what time it is.

This may be a source of worry to many Germans, but it is of no consequence to the Nazi government. A dispatch from Bern, Switzerland, asserts that the Reich in striving to terminate the birth-neck in time-piece repairing, has ordered that preferential treatment be given to alarm clocks, regarded as indispensable to war workers.
Ordinary household clock and wrist watches, which have gone cuckoo, must await calmer days for overhauling.

Thus the Nazi government not only has set the clock back figuratively, but it doesn't care whether the people know literally the time of the day, just so long as the gun-makers awaken at the proper time to continue their devastating tasks.

Brown liquid that the girls put on their legs to make it appear that they are wearing seamless stockings may fool the men, but does it fool the mosquitoes?

The Great Game of Politics

correspondents write that what the President is really after is "control of the State organization and of the delegation to the 1944 convention."

CERTAINLY, THERE is no other explanation of the energy with which he has plunged into the New York situation. It is true, his friends say that what the President seeks is the nomination for Governor of a man who was for his foreign policies prior to Pearl Harbor, but that explanation is rendered absurd by the fact that Attorney General Bennett, who is Mr. Farley's candidate, was one hundred per cent. for those policies before Pearl Harbor, and for Mr. Roosevelt for a third term, too. Also, he is concededly as much of a "liberal" as Senator Noland, now regarded as the White House candidate. So what it really comes down to is that the President opposes Mr. Bennett because his success would rivet Mr. Farley's control of the State organization and probable control of the 1944 delegation.

THERE IS INVOLVED in the fight
no issue of foreign policy or Administration loyalty. There is in it no question of Congressional candidates, of support of the President or of Mr. Bennett's character or ability. Very clearly, it is a White House effort to prevent the State machine from being controlled by men who will be under no obligation to the President and, therefore, able in 1944 to act independently of the White House wish. For the first time in ten years, Mr. Farley is in position to be independent and this independence is a thing Mr. Roosevelt resents and would like to curtail—particularly as it might interfere with his own political purposes in 1944.

SOME TIME AGO one of our most ardent journalistic commentators made the plea that because the President's energies and time were so terribly taxed by the great military, naval and diplomatic problems with which he has to deal, he could not be expected adequately to handle such matters as gasoline rationing, the rubber shortage and taxation. These things, it was said, should be lifted from the shoulders of this heavily burdened man so that he could concentrate his full strength upon the mighty questions of strategy upon which the fate of civilization hinges. How does this sort of exhortation appear now when measured against the time and energy which the President is devoting to a political struggle in which the prize is the control of a party machine?

CONSIDERING THE openness with which this White House political campaign is being conducted, how can members of Congress more effectively assailed for not putting aside their personal and political interests during the war? They ought not, of course, to be thinking in terms of politics, but when they see the President thinking and talking and conferring in those terms what can you expect? This is the sort of situation, news of which the new Office of War Information naturally will not disseminate. But is it not one the American people should understand just the same?

ON THE SCREENS

BRISTOL THEATRE

Deadly disintegrating gas is the source of great conflict between coast guardsmen and unscrupulous munitions manufacturers, in "SOS Coast Guard," which opens today at the Bristol Theatre for a run of two days.
Ralph Byrd plays the leading role.

She lives dangerously—and film producers don't like it one bit. The young lady in question is glamorous June Storey who is co-starred with Edith Fellows in "Girls' Town," due today at the Bristol.

GRAND THEATRE

As long as America can laugh, as it did yesterday at the Grand Theatre, there can be no cause for worry about the state of the nation. The occasion was the opening of "Rio Rita," with Bud Abbott and Lou Costello as the starring comedians.

To counterbalance the mirth with a measure of romance and music, Kathryn Grayson and John Carroll play the dramatic roles and offer an unusually unusual accompaniment. An additional attraction is the graceful dancing of Eros Volusia, sensational star of Brazil, who makes her screen debut.
"Rio Rita" was produced primarily for merriment and song.

RITZ THEATRE

In "Sullivan's Travels," the new comedy which opens today at the Ritz Theatre, co-starring Joel McCrea and Veronica Lake, Miss Lake wears her hair up, concealed under a cap, because through part of the picture she masquerades as a boy hobo.
Miss Lake questions, however, whether wearing her hair up under a

Today's Quiet Moment

(By the Rev. James R. Galley)

Pastor, Bristol Presbyterian Church

O God, Father of all, from whom we go away as children into a far country, and to whom we return in humility and with joy, we are grateful to thee for the privilege of return; that thy hands are always held out to us, that thy house is always open to us, Grant, O Father, that we shall not take advantage of the divine generosity, nor impose upon it. May we show our appreciation of thy many benefits by consecrating ourselves unto thee, and refusing the lures that would entice us away. Through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

Faith Clarke's SHOPPING TIPS FOR BUDGETEERS

SEW YOUR OWN!
Yard goods! Yard goods! Women are crying for them. Ever so many American women are turning to dressmaking. And here is a tops bargain. America's finest cottons from 20¢ to 40¢ less—and all of them now priced at only 39¢ a yard. Permanent glazed chintz, printed waffle pique, creaseless chiffon voile, Sanforized chambray, seersucker, woven dotted swiss, muslins, shantung prints. Good for this month, but buy quickly! Snellenburg's, 2nd fl.

GLORIOUS NEWS for us women who worry about our throats—and some of us must at whatever age—is that of the new "Neck-Tone." To be had in Snellenburg's Toilettry Dept. Just ask for Miss Claire personally and she'll tell you all about the miraculous stuff. Or you may order it. It has directions with it. Daintily paint your throat with "Neck-Tone" twenty minutes before making up and the skin tightens to firmness. The preparation is astringent and said to be wholly non-irritating. I for one am using it. You can even use it on flabby elbows. I would willingly pay five times the price of $3.50. Peace—it's wonderful!

FAMOUS DOG PERFORMS. Here is something. That canny little canine, "Knee-Hi," who taught the city children safety traffic rules, is about to coach families in correct black-out methods! Is he marvelous! Snellenburg's 3rd fl. Auditorium is staging a complete family black-out room for you, with all equipment, simply brings down the house—in this case his audience. Bring the children and yourself for a grand sight. Performances every day at 11 A. M., 1:30 P. M., 3 P. M., 7:30 P. M. You'll go home knowing how to keep your family safe, healthy, happy even in a raid.

MIDSUMMER INSECTS! Ever heard of "Sla"? No? Seek out one of the best insect experts in the country, Mrs. Yeates, in Snellenburg's 3rd fl. Housewares Dept., and learn how to protect all woollens from moth invasion, the baby from mosquitoes, the pies from flies, the kitchen and beds from unmentionables, even the pooch from fleas. All this with a pleasant process and at little cost. 59¢ for the sprayer. "Sla" itself 85¢ per pint, $1.35 qt., $2.55 per half gal., $4.25 a gallon. Stainless and with an odor that does not cling.

LUXURY—NO CHARGE. Fancy ordering a private dining room! Just like that! You can do that at Snellenburg's. Off the lovely main dining room are four private dining rooms which the accommodating manager assures me can be used by you have to do is ask permission. I take for granted you wouldn't reserve a room unless you had good and joyous or very personal reasons for doing so. You know, that 6th fl. dining room is an unusually nice place to eat and not expensive.

TREASURE! I stumbled upon a cache of some of the rarest things in the land at present—real imported spices and herbs. The great cooks of all countries insist upon having, and which many cannot now get even for weighty gold. Yet the wise "buyer" of Snellenburg's 1st fl. Food Store is able to offer these precious things to you at 25¢ to 75¢. Sealed, precious bottles of real Nepaul from India, Lampong, scarce cinnamon, garlic flakes, gumbo file, thyme, basil—all are there. I met a real cook at this shelf of priceless seasonings. She has promised me some of her secret recipes! Want some?

CLEVER GIFT and an economical one is a huge box of delightful bath powder packaged to look like a cottage and garden. The posies actually stick out and the little white picket fence protrudes in realistic fashion. Only 39¢ instead of the usual 59¢. The powder is called "Tre-Jur." Nice novelty for birthdays and for 6th fl. dining room is an unusually nice place to eat and not expensive. Snellenburg's Toilettry Dept., 1st fl.

P.S. If you are vacationing or if you'd just rather not run into town for a small amount of shopping, a telephone call or a postcard will bring you anything in this column. Just say you want "the thingumbubby"—or whatever—Faith Clarke wrote about "and the trick is done. Faithfully, FAITH.

VOLTZ AND ST. ANN'S PLAY TO DEADLOCK; FINAL SCORE, 1-1

Is Second Game This Season That Teams Have Tied

GALLAGHER A BIG HELP

Makes Two "Dead" Throws
To Plate From The Outfield

The winning streak of the Voltz-Texaco team was threatened on several occasions last night on St. Ann's field but after the dust had cleared the second-half league-leaders had to be contented with a deadlock. Final score was: St. Ann's, 1; Voltz-Texaco, 1. It was the second tied game that the two clubs have played this half.

Two "dead" throws from the outfield to the plate by "Billy" Gallagher saved the night for the gasoleers. The first throw took place in the second inning. Hopkins was on third base when DiTanna sent a fly to Gallagher. Hopkins tagged up after the catch and made a dash for the plate. The throw had to be near-perfect to get the runner but it was and Mazzillo tagged out Hopkins after getting the ball on the first bounce.

DeLuca was the victim of Gallagher's arm in the fifth. The St. Ann's second-sacker had walked and stole second. Mazzillo in attempting to get DeLuca threw low to second, the ball striking the runner and rolling to left field. DeLuca rounded third and continued plateward as Gallagher raced after the ball and then rifled it home in time to get DeLuca.

"Bill" Bartholomew pitched an excellent brand of ball for St. Ann's. He held the league-leaders to a pair of bingles and fanned eleven batters. Because his battery mate has a sore arm and cannot toss to second, Bartholomew was in continual trouble, especially in the fifth when the gasoleers filled the bags with one out. But Bartholomew got Moore on an infield fly and Gallagher rolled out to end the inning.

The tally scored off the St. Ann's hurler was made on a single by Gallagher, a stolen base, a passed ball, and Cooper's fly to center. St. Ann's scored its run in the second when Bartholomew walked, was sacrificed to second, and scored on an error.

The pitching duties for the Voltz team was divided between Boccardo and Shackleton, the latter relieving Boccardo in the sixth. The St. Ann's two hits were made off Boccardo.

is known as a task force, enlisted several years ago, and at first was with the Coast Guard. Later he was transferred to the Pacific forces. The island on which he is stationed is about 2,000 miles from Australia.

In his letter to Mr. and Mrs. Fretz the young man said that the soldiers have difficulty in carrying on a conversation with the natives because they can speak very little English.

During the voyage Ward and several of the other men worked and ate with the crew until they reached Australia, where they spent a week. He described the short stay in Australia, as "swell". A short time after they crossed the Equator the climate became very warm. He stated also that he did not get sea sick at any time.

Ward informed his friends in the county seat that one of his companions on this island is Ernest Moss who is in the same outfit and who is known by a number of residents of the county seat and vicinity.

enough ships to transport them and their tanks, guns, fuel oil, spare parts, etc., etc. Thank God, our people are awake to the magnitude of the job ahead of us to win the war.

Germany must have thousands of staff officers, divided into many units and each working on a specific detail of the whole program. For as this war is like cramming four years of college into one year.

But there are encouraging factors. One is we have a magnificent army which is steadily growing. It is an Army which depends upon the smartness, alertness and self-reliance of the individual soldier. I believe that in no army in the world is so much trust placed in the individual soldier as in the United States Army.

In no other country in the world does the enlisted man have so much responsibility as in our army. That is the way a democratic army should be. Our principles of government rest upon the proposition that all men are created equal. All are entitled to and should know the broad plan.

This was brought home to me when I was in Libya and Egypt last May and June. Before our soldiers were sent over there they had received intensive training in the United States. Their officers had told them all they knew about how to operate their tanks and other vehicles.

When we went into the battle line they received their last-minute instructions. Away they went into battle. They were on their own, so to speak. It was up to them. There was no instructor standing by their side to say, do this or do that, as the battle progressed. Each tank crew knew what its mission was and they performed it gloriously.

Therein lies strength in our march to victory. These boys comprised a cross-section of America's manpower. They were accustomed to machinery. They had driven automobiles or motorcycles or had operated machines in factory or on farm. As naturally as ducks take to water these soldiers of ours are taking to the mechanical warfare of today.

Generals must be trained as well as corporals. Generals must be trained to handle large numbers of men. They must be trained to cope with the many problems of assembling men, weapons and materials for what may be termed the assembly line of battle.

Our generals have received this training in great maneuvers that have been held in various parts of our country. I participated in these maneuvers and I have the utmost confidence that when we strike the enemy on land, wherever it may be—in the Pacific and in Europe—the Axis generals will learn that the United States is slow to anger, but when it is aroused no power on earth can stop us.
